PROPOSES PROGRAM
RESTORE COUNTRY
NORMAL CONDITIONPUTTING COUNTRY ON SOUND BASIS
BEST CONTRIBUTION TO RESTORATIONU. S. WILL NOT TRY TO SAVE
OTHER NATIONS—MUST
SAVE THEMSELVES

By RAYMOND CLAPPER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 6—President Harding today proposed to congress a definite and comprehensive program for restoring the United States to normalcy.

Speeding up of plans to put America again on a sound normal basis is America's best contribution to a world wide restoration, the president said, with representatives of all the world powers here for the arms conference listening in the galleries of the house.

Harding served notice that the United States has no intention of trying to "save" other nations. They must save themselves, he said.

America will help unreservedly when they came to the heroic methods for the menacing conditions under which they are struggling. No American policy alone with cure the world's ills, Harding said. By saving ourselves, he declared, we will help the rest of the world save itself.

The president's policy was clearly outlined in discussing the need for a high tariff.

"Sensible of every obligation of humanity, commerce and finance, as they are in the present world condition, it is not to be argued that we need to destroy ourselves to be helpful to the world," he said. "It were better to remain on firm ground, striving for ample employment and high standard of wage at home and point the way to a balanced budget as the remedies to cure disaster."

Harding started speaking at 12:30 after receiving a tremendous ovation. The arms conference was referred to only briefly by the president.

"It is easy to believe a world hope is centered at the capital city. A most gratifying world accomplishment is not impossible."

Outstanding in the president's recommendations for bringing this country back to normal conditions, were: Creation of a virtual industrial court to have judicial and quasi judicial power to deal with labor disputes affecting public interests.

Prompt enactment of the permanent tariff bill with adoption of the American valuation plan and a provision for the fixing of variable duties by presidential order.

Revision of the shipping act to be based on recommendations shortly to be made in a special message.

Enactment of the allied debt refunding bill.

Encouragement of the co-operative market programs to aid farmers.

A constitutional amendment to prohibit the issuance of nontaxable securities.

Speeding up of reclamation legislation to aid ex-soldiers and to provide for homes.

Some revision of the tax bill recently passed.

The president was believed to be taking a direct slap at several "blobs" such as the agricultural group recently formed in congress, when early in his message he discussed our system of government.

"There is," he said, "vastly greater security immensely more the national viewpoint, much larger and prompter accomplishment where our divisions are along party lines in the broad and loftier sense than to divide geographically or according to personal following."

Realizing that some of those proposals called for extension of executive power, President Harding emphasized that he had no thought of encroaching on the domain of congress.

Asking for enactment of the allied debt refunding bill, President Harding promised that if their requested authority is granted, he would follow no policy in conflict with the purpose congress had in granting the loans.

SENATORS FEARFUL OF
NEW UNDERSTANDING
WITH THE BIG POWERS

(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 6—Disquieted by fears that Article Ten of the League of Nations covenant will be included in a new form in the proposed four-power agreement designed to supplant the Anglo-Japanese alliance, a number of senators today were vainly seeking official information concerning the proposed "understanding."

Intimations that the new agreement will include definite guarantees of the territorial integrity of China are the cause of senatorial disquiet. It was Article Ten's guarantee of territorial integrity against external aggression with its binding application to use force in maintaining guarantee, that led the senate to reject.

If the United States join in a guarantee for territorial integrity and political independence, a new "understanding" would be more likely to lead to war than to insure peace, some senators declared.

RECLAMATION OF
ARID LANDS IN WEST
URGED BY SEC. FALLSAYS LARGE NUMBERS OF VET-ERANS COULD SECURE LAND
THEREBYGIVES STARTLING FIGURES OF
WEALTH LYING DORMANT IN PUBLIC LANDS

(By United Press.)
Washington, Dec. 6—A strong policy toward hastening the reclamation of arid lands in the west was urged upon Pres. Harding by Secretary of Interior Fall, in his annual report today.

Large numbers of world war veterans and others could secure homesteads on the land thus made fit for cultivation, Fall said. Thousands of unemployed could be put to work under such a program, he said.

This can only be done through reclamation projects, he explained as the two hundred million acres of unreserved public lands now let is suitable only for grazing.

Startling figures as to the wealth lying dormant in lands owned by the government were disclosed. These will yield in royalties alone twelve billion dollars and the actual value of the oil and coal and other deposits is roughly estimated at 150,000,000,000.

Action by congress on reclamation proposals now pending would enable the government to put many unemployed to work, Fall's report declared.

Red tape in the pension and general land offices of the department was scored. Unless the pension bureau is given more help, thousands of Civil War veterans will die before their pension claims can be passed on by the government, Fall stated. Red tape in the general land office is holding up titles on homesteads four and five years often because of technical errors made by the government agents themselves, he said.

Fall painted a gloomy picture of conditions in Alaska where the white population has dropped off 10,000 in the last 10 years. One evil arises out of the fact that 38 government bureaus and departments deal with Alaskan affairs and Fall urged congress to group all of these activities under one department. He also criticized the "long distance" method of government which requires that many unimportant matters be deferred back to Washington for decision entailing tedious delays because of the long time required for communicating with Washington by mail.

Serious economic conditions in Hawaii because of the adverse turn in the sugar business was reported. Failure of congress to amend the immigration law so that coolie labor could be imported during temporary labor shortages was held responsible in part. The failure of congress to include Hawaii under the benefits bestowed in the educational aid measures was regretted.

Governor Nestos honored requisition for his return today. Wellings, alias Smith, will be returned to, could have been hung as the law permits hanging when convicted of murder while under sentence of murder.

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Dec. 6—Iron mines in northern Minnesota will have to close down or further reduce miners wages, Earl Hunner, representing the Hanna mining interests, told the state tax commission today.

Hunner, bearing a petition of the Chisholm Commercial club, requested the commission to suspend the ad valorem tax on stock piles of iron ore. The commissioner said he was powerless to do this, the tax being provided by law. Hunner said then their only alternative would be to close or further reduce wages. Many of the mines already are closed, but others are operating part of the time. Miners are already working under reductions rather than have no work at all.

THE STRIKE BREAKERS

(By United Press.)
St. Paul, Dec. 6—State troops may be called upon to maintain order in the packing strike area at South St. Paul.

This view prevailed upon receipt of a telegram from Governor Preus at Charleston, S. C. Charles E. Adams, the governor's secretary, refused to disclose its contents.

"The governor has been fully informed of the situation," said Adams. "He will be in touch with the adjutant general at this office later in the day."

Picketing of the plants continued. Strikers discovered that packers were trying to smuggle 60 negroes into the plant through an underground tunnel and frustrated their plan. With sticks and stones they attacked the negroes and drove them out of town.

Violence in St. Paul Plant
South St. Paul, Dec. 6—Violence in the strike was resumed early today. Several assaults occurred.

An electric light plant employee was badly hurt when he tried to get thru a picket line. Forty more deputies were called in at daylight, and said they were going to break through the line. When they saw the picket line was doubled, however, they changed their minds. More than 3,000 men and 500 women were picketing the line of the packing plant district today.

Meat Prices Advance Result of Strike

Chicago, Dec. 6—Meat prices advanced sharply here today, the second day of the packing strike, although company officials continued to maintain that only a few men had quit work. Some grades of meat, especially pork, advanced three and four cents a pound. Employers claimed about 1,100 men remained away from work in Chicago while union heads placed the figure at 15,000. A meeting of the strikers, called by union heads, was attended by about 2,200.

BRITISH-IRISH FEUDNEWS OF AGREEMENT SENDS
THRILL OF RELIEF THROUGH
ALL ENGLANDDETAILS OF THE AGREEMENT
WILL BE SUBMITTED FOR PUB-LICATION WEDNESDAY

(By United Press)
At a British cabinet meeting shortly after noon, the agreement was approved.

King George sent a message to the premier expressing his joy at the news. He wrote: "I am overjoyed at the splendid news, and I congratulate you heartily."

London, Dec. 6—The Irish peace negotiations were snatched from the flames today.

An eleventh hour agreement between the British and Sinn Fein was reached in the small hours of the morning in Downing Street after hours of heated discussion.

The pact was rushed to Belfast for the sanction of Ulster. Her acceptance was considered most probable.

The British parliament is to be summoned to consider the pact which also will be reviewed by the Dail Eireann in Dublin. Authorities are confident that the agreement would meet the approval of all factions.

The details will be submitted for publication Wednesday morning. Sinn Fein headquarters announced the peace delegation will return to Dublin tomorrow night.

The news of the agreement sent a thrill throughout England. London had been prepared for the gloomy news of a breakdown and then at the eleventh hour as the gradual negotiations hung by the thinnest thread over a chasm of despair after months of fruitless work and worry, a ray of light struck out of the darkened sky and flashed on the darkness of 10 Downing Street at 2:15 a. m.

Wearily delegates, worn by the hours of brain conflict, straggled out and climbed into their cabs to go home to bed. The Irish question had been met.

"The news is not so bad," a cabinet member said. "An agreement has been reached."

It was learned the agreement was signed by Premier Lloyd George, Austin Chamberlain, Lord Berkenhead and Winston Churchill for Britain, Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and George Barbon for the Sinn Fein.

The news was given too late for comment in the early morning papers but the observers were lauding Lloyd George today for his success in exhibiting his characteristic strategy before his eleventh hour master strike.

"Irish Free State"

Birmingham, England, Dec. 6—Ireland, under the peace settlement signed by representatives of the British and Sinn Fein government, will be known as the "Irish free state," Lloyd Chancellor Berkenhead announced today.

The provisions of the agreement as outlined by Birkenhead, are:

1. The new dominion is to be known as the "Irish Free State."
2. It is to have the same status as Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa with one reservation.
3. In matters of finance, the free state government will rule supreme.
4. The new government must pay her portion of the national war debt.
5. Sinn Fein must give reasonable guarantees to the North Ireland Unionists minority. If she wishes to join the free state she may retain her own status, Birkenhead declared. In that case, she will submit to the ruling of a boundary commission which would determine the boundary line between the Irish free state and Ulster.

If parliament does not sanction these terms, Birkenhead predicted, the government would go before the people on the issue and submit it to a general election.

Washington, Dec. 6—President Harding today proposed to congress a definite and comprehensive program for restoring the United States to normalcy.

Speeding up of plans to put America again on a sound normal basis is America's best contribution to a world wide restoration, the president said, with representatives of all the world powers here for the arms conference listening in the galleries of the house.

Intimations that the new agreement will include definite guarantees of the territorial integrity of China are the cause of senatorial disquiet. It was Article Ten's guarantee of territorial integrity against external aggression with its binding application to use force in maintaining guarantee, that led the senate to reject.

WEALTH LYING DORMANT IN PUBLIC LANDS

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 6—A strong policy toward hastening the reclamation of arid lands in the west was urged upon Pres. Harding by Secretary of Interior Fall, in his annual report today.

Large numbers of world war veterans and others could secure homesteads on the land thus made fit for cultivation, Fall said. Thousands of unemployed could be put to work under such a program, he said.

This can only be done through reclamation projects, he explained as the two hundred million acres of unreserved public lands now let is suitable only for grazing.

Startling figures as to the wealth lying dormant in lands owned by the government were disclosed. These will yield in royalties alone twelve billion dollars and the actual value of the oil and coal and other deposits is roughly estimated at 150,000,000.

Action by congress on reclamation proposals now pending would enable the government to put many unemployed to work, Fall's report declared.

Red tape in the pension and general land offices of the department was scored. Unless the pension bureau is given more help, thousands of Civil War veterans will die before their pension claims can be passed on by the government, Fall stated. Red tape in the general land office is holding up titles on homesteads four and five years often because of technical errors made by the government agents themselves, he said.

Fall painted a gloomy picture of conditions in Alaska where the white population has dropped off 10,000 in the last 10 years. One evil arises out of the fact that 38 government bureaus and departments deal with Alaskan affairs and Fall urged congress to group all of these activities under one department. He also criticized the "long distance" method of government which requires that many important matters be deferred back to Washington for decision entailing tedious delays because of the long time required for communicating with Washington by mail.

Serious economic conditions in Hawaii because of the adverse turn in the sugar business was reported. Failure of congress to amend the immigration law so that coolie labor could be imported during temporary labor shortages was held responsible in part. The failure of congress to include Hawaii under the benefits bestowed in the educational aid measures was regretted.

IF RATIFIED WILL SETTLE THE AGE OLD
BRITISH-IRISH FEUDNEWS OF AGREEMENT SENDS
THRILL OF RELIEF THROUGH
ALL ENGLANDDETAILS OF THE AGREEMENT
WILL BE SUBMITTED FOR PUBLICATION
WEDNESDAY

(By United Press)

At a British cabinet meeting shortly after noon, the agreement was approved.

King George sent a message to the premier expressing his joy at the news. He wrote: "I am overjoyed at the splendid news, and I congratulate you heartily."

London, Dec. 6—The Irish peace negotiations were snatched from the flames today.

An eleventh hour agreement between the British and Sinn Fein was reached in the small hours of the morning in Downing Street after hours of heated discussion.

The pact was rushed to Belfast for the sanction of Ulster. Her acceptance was considered most probable.

The British parliament is to be summoned to consider the pact which also will be reviewed by the Dail Eireann in Dublin. Authorities are confident that the agreement would meet the approval of all factions.

The details will be submitted for publication Wednesday morning. Sinn Fein headquarters announced the peace delegation will return to Dublin tomorrow night.

The news of the agreement sent a thrill throughout England. London had been prepared for the gloomy news of a breakdown and then at the eleventh hour as the gradual negotiations hung by the thinnest thread over a chasm of despair after months of fruitless work and worry, a ray of light struck out of the darkened sky and flashed on the darkness of 19 Downing Street at 2:15 a. m.

Wary delegates, worn by the hours of brain conflict, straggled out and climbed into their cabs to go home to bed. The Irish question had been met. "The news is not so bad," a cabinet member said. "An agreement has been reached."

It was learned the agreement was signed by Premier Lloyd George, Austin Chamberlain, Lord Berkenhead and Winston Churchill for Britain, Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and George Barlow for the Sinn Fein.

The news was given too late for comment in the early morning papers but the observers were lauding Lloyd George today for his success in exhibiting his characteristic strategy before his eleventh hour master strike.

"Irish Free State"

Birmingham, England, Dec. 6—Ireland, under the peace settlement signed by representatives of the British and Sinn Fein government, will be known as the "Irish free state," Lloyd Chancellor Berkenhead announced today.

The provisions of the agreement as outlined by Birkenhead, are:

1. The new dominion is to be known as the "Irish Free State."
2. It is to have the same status as Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa with one reservation.
3. In matters of finance, the free state government will rule supreme.
4. The new government must pay her portion of the national war debt.
5. Sinn Fein must give reasonable guarantees to the North Ireland Unionists minority. If she wishes to join the free state she may retain her own status, Birkenhead declared. In that case, she will submit to the ruling of a boundary commission which would determine the boundary line between the Irish free state and Ulster.

If parliament does not sanction these terms, Birkenhead predicted, the government would go before the people on the issue and submit it to a general election.

MESSAGE TO BUSINESS MEN

Nothing is More Important to Finance
Stability Than Reclaiming Those Down and Discontented

Do you know that every man who is dissatisfied with himself, who is down on his luck, in a manner of speaking, has a grievance against society in general; that he is ready and willing to listen to whatever anyone who will sympathize with him may say against you, Mr. Business Man?

Choosing as its slogan, "A Man May Be Down, But He Is Never Out," applicable to women and children as well as men, the Salvation Army today, after forty years of experience in permanently rehabilitating the poverty-stricken, the misfit, the unfortunate and discontented, has come to be a dominating factor in making good citizens out of fit subjects for the teaching of radical doctrines.

Thousands of men who have reached typical "down and out" stages are reclaimed and become producers. The organization which serves society in this most helpful way is the Salvation Army. In striving to make good American citizens out of men in these classes, it is getting at the source of many of your business troubles; it is not only looking at the economic conditions in the country today from your point of view, and fighting your battles, but it is benefiting all humanity, and this is the ultimate goal of its own organization.

The statement of a man, whose name is withheld for business reasons, a former associate of Emma Goldman, and Alexander Berkman, who were deported to Russia, because of their radical teachings, brings out the wonderful possibilities of this phase of the Salvation Army work. He said:

"I believed as millions of others are believing now, that the common people were not getting a square deal from our government, and that we were being discriminated against. I was diligent in my efforts to bring about the overthrow of the leaders in government through strikes and revolution, because I believed that it was the only way to secure justice.

"I never once thought that the fault to some extent could be laid to me. I didn't realize that I was one of the millions who by their actions in refusing to work, and by living off the public were retarding the very progress I was trying to bring about.

"Not until I came to the Salvation Army at its Industrial Home, tired and hungry and penniless, and received the benefit of an unselfish kindness did I begin to realize that perhaps this world wasn't so bad after all. I remained with the Army for some time, and through their representatives I learned of new things and I got a true understanding of my duty as an American citizen. And now instead of trying to tear down the institutions which it took years to build, I am doing what I can to build one for myself.

This man today is devoting his time to a business of vital importance to the development of the country. He is successful and prosperous and no longer a menace to his associates. The Salvation Army Appeal begins in this country soon. Will you do your share?

Surprise Party

A surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bourassa at their home on Twelfth street south on Saturday evening by their many friends. An excellent lunch was served and a jolly time enjoyed by all.

illuminating her silver, linen, glass-ware, her guests or herself with other than the kindly glow of candle-light! Each room may now have its appropriate candle, chosen to harmonize in design and color with the furniture and decorations. Period candles are a far cry from the old fashioned tallow dips that our great grandmothers knew, though the hospitality extended to their guests was every bit as warm as that of today.

This distinctive array of candles includes those of Dresden design, Empire, and Dolly Varden in plain and twisted modeling, and plain and dignified candles with colors introduced only at base. These have a cording of silver that gives a touch of delicate refinement.

Ballet Girl

Another form of illumination is from the house of Falper—"Lumière de Parfum". A dainty living-room or boudoir lamp that diffuses a favored perfume as it is evaporated by the heat of the tiny electric bulb. The figure is that of a ballet girl, of thin transparent china, that sheds the softest light. As all other ballet girls, she makes her final bow before the footlights. From the same house are lovely candy jars, hand decorated in modern colors.

Within the store a booth displays gifty things from Pohlson's. Throughout America the name Pohlson is a synonym for gifts of character, originality, individuality and usefulness. Thoughtful little gifts, attractively boxed, accompanied by clever and appropriately worded cards, relieve the Christmas shopper of much worry. There are gifts here for everybody to give everybody else, and there is a large assortment from which to choose, but of course the early shoppers capture the unusual gifts.

Natural Colors

Reproductions of Italian pottery include small jardinières, plates with rims in bas-relief, bulb bowls and flower holders. These are decorated in flower designs in Dresden colors, and fruit in natural hues. From Lucas, celebrated for original designs in pottery, are figures depicting Indian characters renowned in song and story. Some are incense burners, and from the same house is pungent Pine incense, which seems especially fitting to use with these Indian figures. Among these novelties may be found Silver Heels, Hiawatha, a totem pole, and a lithesome wood nymph.

The Tea Hour

For that witching hour of social amenities, dedicated to the rite of amber Oolong and Orange Pekoe, are beautiful lustre teacups, in green or blue, lined with a contrasting color. As a fitting accompaniment are exquisite table linen—dainty little squares and circle sets decorated with cutwork, embroidery and Italian fillet. Secure must be the hostess, with these at her command!

An Art in Itself

The writing of graceful notes is an art in itself, but a long, graceful quill pen, of curling ostrich, should prove an inspiration, adding a note of gay color to "the desk's dull wood," as Charles Lamb so aptly puts it. Porcelain ink containers are to be had in matching colors.

Dinner Favors, Too

Armwood gift baskets are standard gifts, like flowers and books. They are filled with jars of delicious home-made jellies, preserves, salted nuts and candies. Among the jars of delicious home-made jellies, preserves, salted nuts and candies. Among the jars are packed flowers and fruits of maripan paste, and foil wrapped chocolates and bonbons. As dinner favors candy boutineries in colors, with old fashioned paper frills are much used. From Armwood's come dainty stork baskets also, with decorations of stork and baby. Pink and blue ribbons are used. Delicate colors in satin are used for fragrant sachets, and from chiffon and fine net a potpourri of rose leaves is made.

The unusual gift delights, and Murphy's Gift Shop has much that is unique and of charm. From silk and satin ribbons clever bags may be made, and "Dance Bags" can be supplied with needed toilet accessories from this shop. With the addition of a bit of powder and—sh—rouge, one can spend the evening with complacency, assured that no thoughts of a shiny nose need mar the pleasures of the evening.

Comfort With Beauty

In the same window is a wonderful showing of boudoir and living-room pillows against which carefully marcelled and permanently waved heads may gently rest. A gorgeous one of gold satin, oblong in shape, has flat bands of chiffon in rainbow hues, and a large round cushion of soft taffeta in black is shirred, and bears a trimming of natural looking silk fruit. A long, narrow cushion of peach colored taffeta, puffed and corded, drew exclamations of delight from the fair shoppers who gathered to view the tempting array. Lingerie pillows, so attractive for the chaise longue, of fine linen and hand-made Italian filet lace, are also shown. This dainty yet sturdy lace is widely used at present, and the distinctive designs are most effectively brought out when used as a pillow covering.

Bits of Venetian glass, scent bottles and candy jars, gaily decorated with hand-painted flowers in natural colors, are scattered here and there. Attractive, too, are candle sticks and powder jars of the same delicate glass ware, with designs of fruit and flowers. For the dressing table nothing could be daintier or more appropriate.

WILL NOT ACCEPT REDUCTION

The opinion is very generally expressed by officials of rail labor organizations in the Northwest that no agreement will be reached between the employees and the railroads in the recent requests of the lines for a general wage reduction, and that the question will again be referred to the Labor Board for decision. The Northwest lines, it will be remembered, recently issued notices to all their employees that a reduction of approximately 10 per cent is desired, and requested that conferences between representatives of the unions and executives of the roads be held as soon as possible to agree upon the new schedules. In case no agreements are reached by such conferences, the matter would, in accordance with existing rules of the Railroad Labor Board, be referred to that body for settlement.

The general chairmen of the "Big Five" brotherhoods, and leaders of other union labor bodies, are practically unanimous in the opinion that the proposed reductions will not be accepted by the employees. They have nothing to say, however, as to the probabilities of a strike in case the Labor Board should decide against them.

INVITING OTHER NATIONS

It is now understood in administration circles that the Armament Conference itself will determine what outside nations, if any, will be invited to participate in the Washington negotiations as they approach conclusion.

A week or so ago it was suggested that Germany and some other nations should be asked to join in any agreement that might be reached by the conference. The suggestion led to much interesting discussion among the delegates, during which Rene Viviani, head of the French delegation, declared that he saw nothing on the conference agenda in which Germany was concerned. Probably because of the attitude of the French, administration authorities, while declining to enter into any discussion of the subject, now say that it is their impression that the conference will determine any question about the extension of further invitations.

The indications are at this writing that Germany, at least, will not be asked to send a delegation, unless the question of reparations should be taken up and it would be then deemed advisable to have that country represented.

NOT A BAD START

During eight years of power in Washington the Democrats ran up national debts by extravagance and waste, scrambled the railroads, inflated and deflated the currency, and encouraged Socialism. And yet, judging from their criticisms, they expected the Republicans to get the nation back to normal in seven or eight months.

Of course, such a stupendous job could not be done at once, and the Republicans did not do it, but they at least have done the best they could. The country is certainly on the way to normal and has made good progress in that direction, as industrial statistics will demonstrate in the next few months. Liberty bonds that sold for 85 cents on the dollar a few months ago are now quoted at par. An increase of 15 cents on 85 is an increase of 17 per cent. That is to say, holders of Liberty bonds are 17 per cent better off than they were when the Republicans came into power. That surely is not a bad start on the way back to normal.

BIG TIME AT U. FARM

Frank G. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, Gov. Preus and several leading farm experts of national repute, have accepted invitations to address the annual Farmers' and Home

Makers' Week, on the University Farm, Jan. 2 to 7.

It is predicted that this will be about the biggest thing of the kind ever held at the University Farm. Reduced rates have been granted and more than thirty state agricultural societies have agreed to hold their annual meetings in conjunction with the program. Our Crow Wing county farmers, who are as a rule progressive and up to date, should make it a point to attend this big meeting if at all possible, as they would certainly appreciate the many good things on the splendid program that has been arranged for the occasion.

Secretary Hoover announces that the number of the nation's unemployed has decreased by more than a million in the past few weeks. While it might only be temporary, he said, reports from all parts of the country indicated considerable improvement.

Passage of the Allied debt refunding bill as the first work of the next session of Congress is understood to have been definitely agreed upon by the Republican leaders.

That's what we built the ships for in the first place—to scrap, says the Boston Herald.

REDISTRICTING COUNTY

The re-districting of the county seems to hold the center of interest just at present. All well informed persons will agree that the 5th district is too large, both in area and in population. Since the law does not take area into consideration, but does specifically direct that re-districting shall be based on population, the most wise and logical course for our county board to pursue would be to equalize the population along lines that would least disturb the alignment of the districts as now formed. On this basis the logical action to take would be to add one tier of townships from south to north, west to the 2nd district taking from the 5th district's western limits, the 1st district, taking from the 5th district's southern limits to equalize as nearly as practical the population. This looks to the writer as being the most practical action to take as this plan would least disturb the present alignment of districts and work injustice to no interests or to any community.

MOTION PICTURES DELUXE

BRAINERD THEATRE GOES DUE FOR FEAST
IN THE "VOICELESS ART" LYCEUM
BOOKINGS REVEAL CLASSY SHOWS

Manager W. R. Hiller, of the Lyceum has established himself in a comfortable office on the second floor of the theatre. Its an office built for work, and has the usual theatre "atmosphere," with posters, display cards the usual "welcome sign" and stacks of pamphlets everywhere, while on the manager's desk are piled advance sheets from all the leading distributors of screen productions.

In conversation with a Dispatch reporter he spoke of just closing with the United Artists Corporation for a showing of a screen version of Rex Beach's thrilling Alaskan story, "The Iron Trail." In a personal letter to Mr. Hiller from Thos. J. McEvoy, Branch Manager of this Corporation, is a paragraph which gives in a few deft words the thrilling theme of the picture.

"It was to defeat nature of her yearly toll of death, and to open wide the door to the buried treasure of Alaska, that Murray O'Neil conceived the idea of building a railroad that would speed men to and from the gold fields. And so in the face of the greatest hardships he undertook the adventure of building 'The Iron Trail' that is now the road from poverty to riches."

This is a thrilling railroad melodrama and as Brainerd is primarily a railroad town, this picture should play to packed houses. The date is set for December 7th and 8th.

Mr. Hiller mentioned the following pictures as having been booked for the near future: "Through the Back Door," and "The Love Light," with Mary Pickford; "Disraeli," with George Arliss; "The Mark of Zorro," with Douglas Fairbanks; "The Nut," also starring Doug. Fairbanks; "Dream Street," a Griffith production; "Broken Blossoms," also a Griffith production; "Camille," with Nazimova and Rudolph Valentino; Williams S. Hart in "O'Malley of the Mounted Police," and "Conquering Power," featuring Alice Terry and Valentino.

The work of Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" was wonderful, and Manager Hiller is to be congratulated on securing "The Conquering Power." This is also a Rex Ingram production, and the branch manager for the Metro Picture Corporation, writes Mr. Hiller that it is one of the finest things that has ever been made for the screen. Valentino is a young Italian who won fame as a dancer before starting his screen career. He has a lithe, graceful figure and an intense, serious face. His rare smile is as bright as tropical sunshine. As a foil for the delicate beauty of Alice Terry, he is perfect.

BRAINERD theatre goers have been very anxious to see D. W. Griffith's "Broken Blossoms." Manager Hiller saw it in Minneapolis, and booked it as soon as he could conveniently do so. Lillian Gish plays the part of the child, Lucy. The setting of the play, according to a write-up in the Minneapolis Journal November 27th, is in Limehouse, the Chinese quarter of London. The story was written by Thomas Burke, who also wrote the story of "Dream Street." It was in the heart of east London, with its fried fish shops and its saloon on every corner, where gangs of young Cockneys whooped it up and jeered at the stranger's advent that the story was conceived. It may be melodrama, again it may be life. Anyway, it is said to be a gripping picture portraying life in the Oriental quarter of London.

Photoplays for December gives "Disraeli" place among the six best pictures of the month. Quoting the magazine: "George Arliss is one of the most skillful pantomimists since Duburau, and he makes Disraeli, the wily British statesman, the most perfect reproduction of a historical character that has ever been made. Mr. Arliss has a delightful co-star in Mrs. George Arliss, who plays the patient Mrs. Disraeli. She is a charming woman and an accomplished actress. There should be a law against Mr. Arliss ever appearing on the stage or screen without his wife."

In the same magazine is an article by the valet of Douglas Fairbanks, who gives some intimate details of Mr. Fairbank's always hurried life. He writes: "If Mr. Fairbanks were left to himself for a day, I shudder to think what would become of him. In regard to every sort of matter about clothes and small details, he is as helpless as a child. He could not tell you where one single article he owns is at the present time. All that is up to me." In giving his reasons for writing the article, this nameless person states: "There exists, I am convinced, no better way for posterity to judge a man, than from the details of his intimate habits, his exact mode and manner I may say, of meeting the trivial round of every-day living; and the thousand annoyances of dressing, eating and sleeping. Therefore it seems to me wise at this time to set down a few inner secrets concerning the famous and unusual gentleman I serve in the time-honored capacity of valet."

Two pictures will be shown of Douglas Fairbanks in the near future at the Lyceum, "The Nut," and "The Mark of Zorro." With unusually fine booking of pictures, Brainerd audiences will be supplied with what might well be called a metropolitan program portraying the "Voiceless Art," as someone has rather finely expressed motion pictures.

Fine Public Service

Knight's of Columbus, during the present school year, will train 150,000 war veterans in their schools. Also they will start free mail order courses for former service men and women living in remote parts of the country.

During the last 12 months the Knights of Columbus spent more than $2,300,000 on free education for war veterans in America, including technical training in 130 Knights of Columbus evening schools and courses at Yale, Georgetown, etc. This training bought individually by those benefitted, would have cost $30,000,000.

That is fine public service.—Rural Weekly.

SILVER TEA GIVEN

Public Library Transformed Into a
Charming Tea Garden Last Friday Afternoon

Pretty candies, shaded lamps, a silver tea service and other attractive appointment of a dainty tea table transformed the public library into a charming tea garden last Friday afternoon.

From the librarian's room came the fragrance of brewing tea, which was served in the space behind the librarian's desk, while the long reading tables were covered with the choicest of children's books. About $70 worth of books were sold, and something over $20 was realized from the tea.

But the most valuable social service performed by the committee who had this tea in charge cannot be measured in dollars and cents. The decorations brought in from their homes contrasted painfully with the patched walls that need re-decorating badly. A mere casual survey of the books makes one realize two things: the need of money for re-binding the circulating books and the fact that the reference books are little used because the library is open so few hours a week. As one young mother said:

"If every one in Brainerd would give a dollar a year, what an attractive and useful place this library would be. If our children spent their evenings here, we would know they were forming the reading habit, which would be useful all through their lives."

A famous money raiser once said: "It's the easiest thing in the world to raise money, after you have convinced people of the need."

The truth of this has been demonstrated over and over again in Brainerd. A public or private calamity that touches the hearts of our people, brings money without stint. But a half mill added to our taxes makes no emotional appeal. It is possible to appeal both to the head and the heart, however, where the educational welfare of children is concerned, and anything that will popularize an educational institution is worthy social welfare work.

This committee consists of Mrs. Mal Clark, chairman, Mesdames L. R. Tanner, C. W. Hoffman, John F. Woodhead; T. E. Jones, C. A. Albright, and the Meses Louise Barrett, Mary Walsh and Harriet Engsberv. Ladies, let the good work go on until you have convinced the Brainerd tax payers that the library is worthy of liberal support.

First Baptist Aid

The Ladies Aid of the First Baptist church will be entertained by Mrs. H. A. Knapp and Mrs. R. E. Cody at the home of Mrs. Knapp, 29 Kingwood street Wednesday afternoon. A large attendance is desired.

TROMMALD

A dance was given at the school house which was enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sundberg of Brainerd visited in town.

Ben Enberg, employed at the Moroco mine, was hit by a skip at the top of the shaft and came near being hurled to the bottom, a distance of about 210 feet. After falling 15 or 20 feet he grabbed a hold and hung on until rescued.

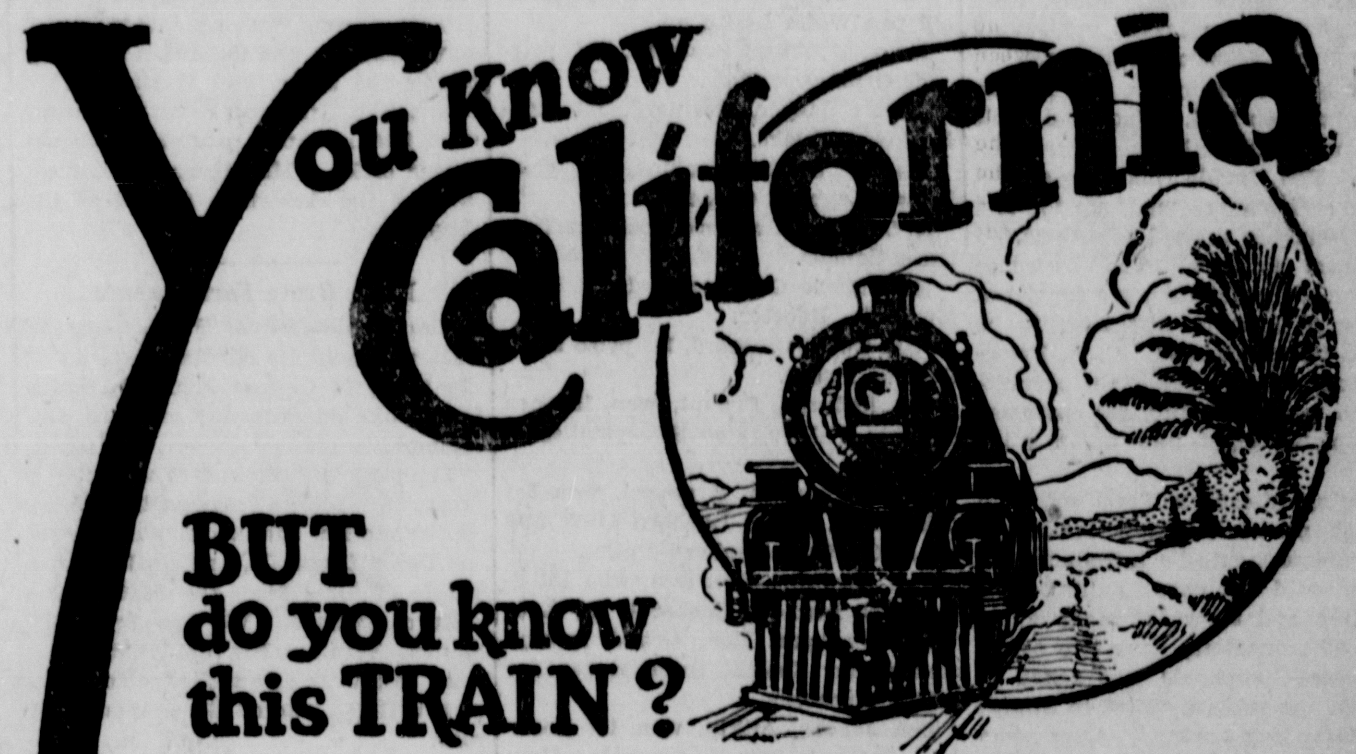

The Fire Chiefs' Association of the Cuyuna iron range will meet in Trommald the second Tuesday in January. Trommald firemen are preparing to give them a royal welcome.

MOTION PICTURES DELUXE

Brainerd Theatre Goes Due for Feast in the "Voiceless Art" Lyceum Bookings Reveal Classy Shows

Manager W. R. Hiller, of the Lyceum has established himself in a comfortable office on the second floor of the theatre. Its an office built for work, and has the usual theatre "atmosphere," with posters, display cards the usual "welcome sign" and stacks of pamphlets everywhere, while on the manager's desk are piled advance sheets from all the leading distributors of screen productions.

In conversation with a Dispatch reporter he spoke of just closing with the United Artists Corporation for a showing of a screen version of Rex Beach's thrilling Alaskan story, "The Iron Trail." In a personal letter to Mr. Hiller from Thos. J. McEvoy, Branch Manager of this Corporation, is a paragraph which gives in a few deft words the thrilling theme of the picture.

"It was to defeat nature of her yearly toll of death, and to open wide the door to the buried treasure of Alaska, that Murray O'Neil conceived the idea of building a railroad that would speed men to and from the gold fields. And so in the face of the greatest hardships he undertook the adventure of building 'The Iron Trail' that is now the road from poverty to riches."

This is a thrilling railroad melodrama and as Brainerd is primarily a railroad town, this picture should play to packed houses. The date is set for December 7th and 8th.

Mr. Hiller mentioned the following pictures as having been booked for the near future: "Through the Back Door," and "The Love Light," with Mary Pickford; "Disraeli," with George Arliss; "The Mark of Zorro," with Douglas Fairbanks; "The Nut," also starring Doug. Fairbanks; "Dream Street," a Griffith production; "Broken Blossoms," also a Griffith production; "Camille," with Nazimova and Rudolph Valentino; Williams S. Hart in "O'Malley of the Mounted Police," and "Conquering Power," featuring Alice Terry and Valentino.

The work of Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" was wonderful, and Manager Hiller is to be congratulated on securing "The Conquering Power." This is also a Rex Ingram production, and the branch manager for the Metro Picture Corporation, writes Mr. Hiller that it is one of the finest things that has ever been made for the screen. Valentino is a young Italian who won fame as a dancer before starting his screen career. He has a lithe, graceful figure and an intense, serious face. His rare smile is as bright as tropical sunshine. As a foil for the delicate beauty of Alice Terry, he is perfect.

Brainerd theatre goers have been very anxious to see D. W. Griffith's "Broken Blossoms." Manager Hiller saw it in Minneapolis, and booked it as soon as he could conveniently do so. Lillian Gish plays the part of the child, Lucy. The setting of the play, according to a write-up in the Minneapolis Journal November 27th, is in Limehouse, the Chinese quarter of London. The story was written by Thomas Burke, who also wrote the story of "Dream Street." It was in the heart of east London, with its fried fish shops and its saloon on every corner, where gangs of young Cockneys whooped it up and jeered at the stranger's advent that the story was conceived. It may be melodrama, again it may be life. Anyway, it is said to be a gripping picture portraying life in the Oriental quarter of London.

Photoplays for December gives "Disraeli" place among the six best pictures of the month. Quoting the magazine: "George Arliss is one of the most skillful pantomimists since Duburau, and he makes Disraeli, the wily British statesman, the most perfect reproduction of a historical character that has ever been made. Mr. Arliss has a delightful co-star in Mrs. George Arliss, who plays the patient Mrs. Disraeli. She is a charming woman and an accomplished actress. There should be a law against Mr. Arliss ever appearing on the stage or screen without his wife."

In the same magazine is an article by the valet of Douglas Fairbanks, who gives some intimate details of Mr. Fairbank's always hurried life. He writes: "If Mr. Fairbanks were left to himself for a day, I shudder to think what would become of him. In regard to every sort of matter about clothes and small details, he is as helpless as a child. He could not tell you where one single article he owns is at the present time. All that is up to me." In giving his reasons for writing the article, this nameless person states: "There exists, I am convinced, no better way for posterity to judge a man, than from the details of his intimate habits, his exact mode and manner I may say, of meeting the trivial round of every-day living, and the thousand annoyances of dressing, eating and sleeping. Therefore it seems to me wise at this time to set down a few inner secrets concerning the famous and unusual gentleman I serve in the time-honored capacity of valet."

Two pictures will be shown of Douglas Fairbanks in the near future at the Lyceum, "The Nut," and "The Mark of Zorro." With unusually fine booking of pictures, Brainerd audiences will be supplied with what might well be called a metropolitan program portraying the "Voiceless Art," as someone has rather finely expressed motion pictures.

Fine Public Service

Knight of Columbus, during the present school year, will train 150,000 war veterans in their schools. Also they will start free mail order courses for former service men and women living in remote parts of the country.

During the last 12 months the Knights of Columbus spent more than $2,500,000 on free education for war veterans in America, including technical training in 130 Knights of Columbus evening schools and courses at Yale, Georgetown, etc. This training bought individually by those benefitted, would have cost $30,000,000.

That is fine public service.—Rural Weekly.

SILVER TEA GIVEN

Public Library Transformed Into a Charming Tea Garden Last Friday Afternoon

Pretty candles, shaded lamps, a silver tea service and other attractive appointment of a dainty tea table transformed the public library into a charming tea garden last Friday afternoon.

From the librarian's room came the fragrance of brewing tea, which was served in the space behind the librarian's desk, while the long reading tables were covered with the choicest of children's books. About $70 worth of books were sold, and something over $20 was realized from the tea.

But the most valuable social service performed by the committee who had this tea in charge cannot be measured in dollars and cents. The decorations brought in from their homes contrasted painfully with the patched walls that need re-decorating badly. A mere casual survey of the books makes one realize two things: the need of money for re-binding the circulating books and the fact that the reference books are little used because the library is open so few hours a week. As one young mother said:

"If every one in Brainerd would give a dollar a year, what an attractive and useful place this library would be. If our children spent their evenings here, we would know they were forming the reading habit, which would be useful all through their lives."

A famous money raiser once said: "It's the easiest thing in the world to raise money, after you have convinced people of the need."

The truth of this has been demonstrated over and over again in Brainerd. A public or private calamity that touches the hearts of our people, brings money without stint. But a half mill added to our taxes makes no emotional appeal. It is possible to appeal both to the head and the heart, however, where the educational welfare of children is concerned, and anything that will popularize an educational institution is worthy social welfare work.

This committee consists of Mrs. Mal Clark, chairman, Mesdames J. R. Tanner, C. W. Hoffman, John F. Woodhead; T. E. Jones, C. A. Albright, and the Meses Louise Barrett, Mary Walsh and Harriet Engsberv. Ladies, let the good work go on until you have convinced the Brainerd tax payers that the library is worthy of liberal support.

First Baptist Aid

The Ladies Aid of the First Baptist church will be entertained by Mrs. H. A. Knapp and Mrs. R. E. Cody at the home of Mrs. Knapp, 29 Kingwood street Wednesday afternoon. A large attendance is desired.

TROMMOLD

A dance was given at the school house which was enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sundberg of Brainerd visited in town.

Ben Enberg, employed at the Moroco mine, was hit by a skip at the top of the shaft and came near being hurled to the bottom, a distance of about 210 feet. After falling 15 or 20 feet he grabbed a hold and hung on until rescued.

The Fire Chiefs' Association of the Cuyuna iron range will meet in Trommold the second Tuesday in January. Trommold firemen are preparing to give them a royal welcome.

Famous Debate Staged, Culling Demonstrations, Double Nut Quartet Sang Songs with Local Setting

The exhibition of the Crow Wing County Poultry Show was in reality two shows. While many of the patrons remained to view the splendid display of birds of nearly every kind and feather most of the people went across the street to the new court house to enjoy the program prepared by the officers.

At the meeting Friday afternoon President Hawkins selected R. E. Bemmel to act as chairman at the meeting. County Agent E. G. Roth was first on the program and gave a splendid exhibition of poultry culling. This was followed by the now famous debate between R. S. Wilcox and Clyde Ellis, and G. E. Roth and P. M. Zakariasen. The Double Nut Quartet was late in arriving but made up for lost time by singing several selections, all with local settings. The costumes worn by the quartette were furnished by Buy & Peterson and need to be seen to be appreciated. O. A. Peterson came to the rescue of the committee who were searching for costumes by supplying eight new union made suits.

Saturday afternoon President Sam Hawkins presided. After making a few announcements he introduced W. E. Stanchfield who gave a culling demonstration and answered many questions. The quartette gave two selections. Mr. Stanchfield was asked to speak on the subject, "How to Stimulate Winter Egg Laying." After some more music by the Double Quartette the meeting adjourned.

BANNER WEEK AT NEW PARK

Wonderful Pictures, Finest Vaudeville, Palmers' Orchestra Supreme, Features

"Banner Week" at the New Park theatre was inaugurated Sunday with what patrons say was the best vaudeville bill in many seasons presented at the New Park theatre. Three shows were given Sunday, at 5 o'clock, 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock.

Leslie and Martin were heard in a skit entitled "Little Miss Melody". He played piano and sang and she lanced and sang her way into the hearts of the audience.

The Belldays presented the "lady that falls". It was very funny and the lady got more falls out of her trailing skirts than any one living has hitherto accomplished.

Henry Hartman gave violin numbers and a monolog.

Machedow Brothers, gymnasts, gave a number which equalled any circus act.

Wanda Hawley appeared in the "House that Jazz Built". Palmer's orchestra supreme plays all week and he music received much applause. The orchestration is piano, violin, drums, cornet, saxophone and trombone. Vaudeville acts were given snappy accompaniment and suited the performers.

Here are some of the good things offered by the New Park during "Banner Week": Dec. 5-6, Norma Palmadge in "The Sign on the Door"; Dec. 7-8, Priscilla Dean in "Reputation"; Dec. 9, Mary Miles Minter in "Don't Call Me Little Girl"; Dec. 10, vaudeville and May McAvoy in "Private Scandal".

BANNER WEEK AT NEW PARK

Wonderful Pictures, Finest Vaudeville, Palmers' Orchestra Supreme, Features

"Banner Week" at the New Park theatre was inaugurated Sunday with what patrons say was the best vaudeville bill in many seasons presented at the New Park theatre. Three shows were given Sunday, at 5 o'clock, 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock.

Leslie and Martin were heard in a skit entitled "Little Miss Melody". He played piano and sang and she lanced and sang her way into the hearts of the audience.

The Belldays presented the "lady that falls". It was very funny and the lady got more falls out of her trailing skirts than any one living has hitherto accomplished.

Henry Hartman gave violin numbers and a monolog.

Machadow Brothers, gymnasts, gave a number which equalled any circus act.

Wanda Hawley appeared in the "House that Jazz Built". Palmer's orchestra supreme plays all week and he music received much applause. The orchestration is piano, violin, drums, cornet, saxophone and trombone. Vaudeville acts were given snappy accompaniment and suited the performers.

Here are some of the good things offered by the New Park during "Banner Week": Dec. 5-6, Norma Palmadze in "The Sign on the Door", Dec. 7-8 Priscilla Dean in "Reputation", Dec. 9, Mary Miles Minter in "Don't Call Me Little Girl"; Dec. 19, vaudeville and May McAvoy in "Private Scandal".

ZONE of the STRAITS

"Cut-throat Castle," Built by Mohammed II.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

An international commission officially rules the destinies of "the Zone of the Straits." Only since the World war has it been a "zone." For centuries it was the heart of Turkey—the Dardanelles, Marmora, the Bosphorus. Over it sat not a commission, but sultans and caliphs, jealous of the demonstrated power of political Islam. And ages earlier Byzantine Greeks, and before them their Ionian and Peloponnesian cousins ruled those same straits. The new commission does not find its rule unquestioned. Descendants of Turk and Greek—Turkish rebels, in open revolt against the commission, and modern Greeks, entirely willing to rule in its stead over the important waterways of their fathers—are fighting it out in the Near East; and the Black sea and its gates are again a field of world events, while Russians, Roumanians and Bulgarians, and the great powers of the West look on, all to be affected whatever the outcome.

This is historic ground and water, from the mouth of the Dardanelles at the tip of the Gallipoli peninsula, to the point nearly 200 miles to the north-eastward where the narrower Bosphorus sucks a mighty stream of water from the Black sea. Greek mythology and legend first made them its theater. The legions of the Trojan war, Phryxus and Helle, and Jason and his fellow goldseekers sailed over their waters and around their headlands; and later Greeks, Romans and Genoese built great cities on their shores and established over their waters the world-important trade routes of their days.

Center of the Old World.

It is against the current that flows from the north that civilization as we have known it has worked its way. The first adventure was to enter the Dardanelles or the Hellespont, as the Greeks called it. This is the longer of the two great salt-water rivers that separate Europe from Asia Minor. It winds its way, with two sharp turns and numerous gentler curves, for 40 miles before it expands into the Sea of Marmora, the Grecian Propontis. The strait varies in width from a little over three-fourths of a mile to five miles. On the European side rises the steep ridge of Gallipoli where the ill-fated expedition of Australians and New Zealanders suffered so keenly in the World war. On the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles lies the plain of old Troy and the foot hills of Mount Ida.

The Sea of Marmora from which the Hellespont leads is about 140 miles in length and 40 miles wide at its greatest width, and is thus somewhat smaller than Lake Ontario, the smallest of our Great Lakes. But though relatively small, it has in its time been the center of the world. Probably about no other lake or sea in the world of such a size have so many important cities stood. Of these, Constantinople alone retains importance today; but living and dead cities cover the shores of practically every harbor and headland of the little sea. The settlements that still exist are not even the heirs of the great cities of yesterday, but rather ill-kempt interlopers—squatters—that under Turkish domain occupied their sites.

Colonized by the Greeks.

Colonists from the Greek cities and islands pushed up through the Hellespont and settled on the Propontine shores at the dawn of European history. Byzantium, on the site of present-day Constantinople, was a member of the Second Athenian league; and the Dardanelles, already a Grecian strait, was the scene of the battle which closed the Peloponnesian wars.

The Marmora really came into its own in the period following the death of Alexander when the kingdom of Bithynia flourished on its shores, and Pontus and Pergamos grew to prosperity on either side. Cyzicus on the peninsula of that name on the southern shore of Marmora was the chief city. It was founded earlier than Rome or Byzantium. It had a long life, possessed at various times by Athens, Sparta, Persia, Macedonia, Pergamos and Rome. It was rated one of the splendid ancient cities, and its gold coins were the standard of the day as Florence's florins became in Renaissance times.

But when Byzantium, in its incomparable position by the Bosphorus

the chain of historic waters that separates Asia Minor and Europe, is perhaps most important; it is the immediate gate to and from the great Black sea which reaches toward the heart of southwest Europe. To dominate it is to dominate one of the world's great trade routes, a fact which has been put to good account from the days of pre-Byzantine Greeks to those of Seljuk Turks. The strait is about twenty miles long and varies in width from 1,500 feet or a third of a mile to two miles. Darius chose not the narrow but a point at which the shores are more than a half-mile apart as the site for his famous bridge of boats.

The water in the Bosphorus is over 100 feet deep. A mighty current flows along the surface from the Black sea; but beneath the surface a return current of water flows in the reverse direction. A similar inbound current flows from the Mediterranean to the Sea of Marmora, furnishing for the Black sea at least an answer to the old query: Why is the sea salt?

The Seljuk Turks recognized the strategic importance of the Bosphorus; and crossing it above Constantinople in 1452, built on the European shore the old "Cut-throat Castle," only seven miles above the city. With the Bosphorus in their control, they captured the ancient capital the following year.

Until the conclusion of the World war and the adoption of the treaty of Sevres with defeated Turkey, the Turks had sat for over 500 years as masters of the Bosphorus.

At the northern end of the Bosphorus lies the Black sea—a dark, forbidding ocean to the landsman and well worthy of its name. One wonders that the early Greeks named it Euxinus, signifying "friendly to strangers," unless they did so by way of offering a propitiatory complaint to the angry sea god. Here we are dealing with no small sea comparable in size to our lakes, but with a great expanse of water 750 miles long and from 200 to 400 miles wide, which would cover Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina and a considerable part of Tennessee into the bargain.

Around the Black sea are now grouped more nations than its waters have touched, perhaps, at any other time in history. Just beyond the narrow zone of the straits and the tiny patch to which Turkey-in-Europe has shrunk, Greece, forging northward, now has a strip of the coast. Next comes Bulgaria with a shoreline of about 100 miles; and beyond it lies Roumania, occupying the greater part of the western end of the sea. Across the north stretches Russia, and in the east lie Georgia and Armenia. Stretching along the rocky south shore is Turkey-in-Asia. Hardly less interested in the Black sea are inland Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Yugoslavia, whose commerce reaches its waters over the Danube.

Jake Schaefer, youthful cue artists in winning the 18.2 title not only defeated Hoppe twice in succession by one-sided scores, but in one game ran out in 2 innings for an average of 200.

AMUSEMENTS

Alice Brady Scores Hit as a Wistful Immigrant

After several years of successful starring in dramas of the smart set, Alice Brady has turned a sudden right about-face, and in a wonderfully simple, appealing tale of humble people and their grim fight with poverty and discouragement, has achieved perhaps the finest role of her whole screen career.

"The Land of Hope," which opened a two day run last night at the Lyceum is the new play. It is a collaboration of the famous comedy-writing Hattisons, Frederick and Fannie.

The play presents Miss Brady in the role of a Polish immigrant girl, who, with a group of humble folks from her native village, seeks her fortune in America. The girl Marya, and her lover, Sascha, both quaint, wistful, appealing figures of repressed youth and timid hope, are the oddest and most interesting pair of lovers who have been seen on the screen in some time.

"Reputation"

"Reputation," the newest Universal Jewel super-feature, starring Priscilla Dean and coming to the New Park Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, is heralded as a dramatic thunderbolt of tremendous power. After her two recent successes, "The Virgin of Stamboul" and "Outside the Law," Universal realized it would require a photograph of extraordinary strength to complete the dramatic trinity. From all accounts "Reputation" not only proves its right to follow the first two, but many reviewers have declared it to be by far the most powerful drama projected on the screen in many months.

The most interesting feature of "Reputation" is the fact that it permits Priscilla Dean to play a dual role—a mother and daughter—both possessing marked histrionic genius, but differing in every other characteristic. The mother is a woman who has violated social code and sunk to moral depths in inverse ratio to her rise in fame and popularity. The daughter, on the other hand, raised in a county asylum, blooms like a violet in a swamp, and grows up to pure and charming young

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

STOP EATING MEAT FOR A WHILE IF YOUR BLADDER IS TROUBLING YOU

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life savor for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Adv.

womanhood. The mother has forgotten the daughter's existence, while the child has never known her mother's identity. Fate brings the two together under circumstances that try their souls and make for big dramatic situations.

The story, under the title of "False Colors," first appeared in a magazine as the work of Edwina Levin. Lucien Hubbard and Doris Schroeder adapted it to the screen. It was directed by Stuart Paton.

"The Sign on the Door" Considered One of Best Norma Talmadge Pictures

In "The Sign on the Door," Norma Talmadge, incomparable emotional actress of the silent drama, is seen at her best in the most interesting and absorbing screen vehicle yet given to this talented star.

"The Sign on the Door" opened to a capacity house at the New Park Theatre last night. It is a screen version of Channing Pollock's highly successful stage play of the same name, and to merely say that it is a creditable one would be putting the facts very mildly indeed.

A splendid plot is extremely well presented on the screen. The story concerns Ann Hunniwell, a pretty stenographer, who, through no fault of her own, is compromised by her employer's scapegrace son. Later, when she marries a man of high character and social standing, the fellow comes into her life again. He is killed in a struggle with her husband. The husband does not know that his wife has witnessed the tragedy. An extraordinary denouement follows her act in summoning the police and accusing herself of the shooting.

In this production Norma takes full advantage of the opportunities for dramatic and emotional acting in wonderful fashion. And the technique and artistry of Herbert Brenon, who directed "The Sign on the Door," is apparent throughout the production.

The star has excellent support. Charles Richman is seen as her leading man, and others prominent in the cast are Lew Cody, David Proctor, Helen Weir and Paul McAllister. "The Sign on the Door" was adapted for the screen by Mary Murillo and Herbert Brenon. It is a First National attraction.

It was rated one of the splendid ancient cities, and its gold coins were the standard of the day as Florence's florins became in Renaissance times.

But when Byzantium, in its incomparable position by the Bosphorus

rose to power, the glories of Cyzicus passed away. Today practically nothing is left of the once great city, for Byzantines and Turks alike used the old buildings in the place of natural quarries as sources of stone with which to build the latest metropolis of the Marmora and the Bosphorus.

Nicomedia, now Ismit, at the extreme eastern end of the Marmora, was another city of world importance. Under the Emperor Diocletian it was for a brief time the capital of Rome—and the world. Nicæa, just to the south of Nicomedia and a short distance inland, has three times been the seat of empire. Twice the Turks, before they reached Constantinople, made it a capital rivaling to a degree old Bagdad; and for more than half the Thirteenth century, between its peaks of Turkish brilliance, while the Franks held Constantinople, it was the capital of the Byzantine empire. There, too, the Nicene creed, a landmark in the crystallization of Christian theology was framed.

Chalcedon, Rodosto, Heracleia Perinthos, Selymoria were other centers, no mean cities in their day, which have disappeared or dwindled to insignificance. Thriving communities in almost each case until the Turk appeared on the scene, they have been since touched with the blight of prosperity and progress that is said ever to follow his steps.

Bosphorus Most Important.

Shorter and narrower than the Dardanelles, the Bosphorus, third link in the chain of historic waters that separates Asia Minor and Europe, is perhaps most important; it is the immediate gate to and from the great Black sea which reaches toward the heart of southwest Europe. To dominate it is to dominate one of the world's great trade routes, a fact which has been put to good account from the days of pre-Byzantine Greeks to those of Seljuk Turks. The strait is about twenty miles long and varies in width from 1,800 feet or a third of a mile to two miles. Darius chose not the narrows but a point at which the shores are more than a half-mile apart as the site for his famous bridge of boats.

The water in the Bosphorus is over 100 feet deep. A mighty current flows along the surface from the Black sea; but beneath the surface a return current of water flows in the reverse direction. A similar inbound current flows from the Mediterranean to the Sea of Marmora, furnishing for the Black sea at least an answer to the old query: Why is the sea salt?

The Seljuk Turks recognized the strategic importance of the Bosphorus; and crossing it above Constantinople in 1452, built on the European shore the old "Cut-throat Castle," only seven miles above the city. With the Bosphorus in their control, they captured the ancient capital the following year.

A Married Woman's Advice

Every Woman Should Read This St. Paul, Minn.—"During my early married life I became sort of rundown and suffered with general feminine troubles. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it built me up in health and strength. Then about two years ago I suffered with functional disturbances, became weak and all run down in health, and I again took the Favorite Prescription and it gave me the same help as before; it built me up in health and strengthened my whole nervous system. Favorite Prescription is a splendid woman's medicine and nerve."—Mrs. S. L. Roberts, 291 Cliff St.
